Issue #15

In Issue #13 we reviewed YouTvPc. Watching TV on your computer is not as good as watching on your television set but the quality of these programs are acceptable. So far, the series “Band of Brothers” is our favorite.

Disclaimer: All programs recommended are “use at your risk”. Powell Webs does not guarantee that all programs will work or that they will not in some way cause your computer to malfunction. User agrees to hold Powell Webs harmless in the case of an adverse result.

Trivia Question

Issue 13 Trivia Question. This American general was caught with a map of Westpoint in his sock while trying to deliver it to the enemy. Who is he? ANSWER: Benedict Arnold

New Question. On July 28, 1945 this accident in the Empire State Building caused the deaths of 14 people and injured 26. What happened? E-mail Powell Webs the answer. We will include it in our next issue.

The Future of Things If you are into science and technology check out this site. Heady stuff. The logo is to funny.

<http://1000days.net/home/index.php> Do you love sailing? On April 22, 2007, Captain Reid Stowe and Soanya Ahmad, set sail for a 1,000 day sailing adventure . They will not refuel, re-supply, or pull into any harbor. Their goal is to set a world's record and to provide educational materials for students about their journey. Look at the header of their website. No, that is NOT Luke Skywalker.

Blogging Want to start your own blog. Blogging tools are easy to find and to use. The challenge is coming up with interesting content that people will want to return to. If you think you are up to it, here is the place to start. This site compares the best blogging options.

learnmagictricks.org I thought magicians never revealed their secrets but on this site they do. The webmaster of this site have compiled an archive of YouTube videos that show you how magic tricks are performed.

Wikisky.org

Sky Charts If you love astronomy or would just like to know a little about “what's out there” check this out. The interface is amazing.

Subjective Well Being What is your SWB? A lot of research into personal happiness and well being has been going on in the last 10 years? Can poor people be happy? Does chronic illness lead to a poor SWB score? Many authors are now proposing that the role of government is to facilitate, through legislation, the highest SWB score possible. Be sure to scroll down to the bottom of the page where they have a world map showing the happiest and least happiest nations.

Webware

Newbies Guide To Flickr Would you like to put your graduation, wedding or vacation photos online to share with your friends? Check out Flickr. Flickr is a web-based photo sharing program. You can load up to 100MB per month for free or for only $25, or about $2 a month, you can have unlimited storage. This guide teaches you everything you need to get started.

Laptopsforless Laptop batteries, AC adapters, CD Roms, modems, keyboards, chargers etc. for Compaq, Toshiba, IBM, Dell, Sony, NEC, HP and other laptops, PDA's, digital cameras. Good site but we don't know why they didn't name it “LaptopPARTSforless”.

TypeFaster Forget about Mavis Beacon, this typing program is free. It has also received some good reviews. If you want to learn to touch type or just want to increase your typing skills, this is the program.

TechRepublic

200 Ways to Revive a Hard Drive In over 10 years of computing, I have only lost two hard drives due to malfunction or file corruption. It is no fun losing all the programs and documents saved on your hard drive. (That is why it is important to periodically back up your important files). This article is extensive. You should probably throw it into your favorite places for a rainy day.

We hope this information has been useful to you and will help enhance your Internet experience.
